Handbook

Sustainable Land Use Management in Europe Providing strategies and tools for decision-makers

LUMASEC (Land Use Management for Sustainable European Cities) is a European project, which aims to identify the scope of strategic and operational action for European cities in land use planning.

This Handbook presents the results of a 2-years work between September 2008 and May 2010 on strategic land use management, focussing on urban sprawl and urban brown-fields, as one of the most important topics to address, to ensure competitiveness, attractiveness and sustainability of our European city-regions. It focuses on both the strategic level (planning methods, observation tools) and the operational level (action plans, case-studies), and aims at producing methods and practical recommendations.
