

Kick-off Meeting CityRegion.Net in Kielce 8th/9th July 2008

Meeting place: City Hall of Kielce, Rynek 1 (map supplied)

Summarised description of the project:

Urban sprawl continues to be a predominant trend in European spatial development. Cities function as motors for social and economic development and are vital for common integrated planning. They are also basic service providers for the whole region. It is essential that urban development and planning goes hand in hand with integrated development of the hinterland. Discussions and moderated processes need to take place about duties and functions that could be shared between towns and their surrounding municipalities. Cooperations should be formed to guarantee the best use of public and private investments. By identifying best practices and by adapting these models to particular local needs the network aims to improve multilevel governance and counteract urban sprawl.

Main objectives:

The main objective of this network is the elaboration of working programmes and policy recommendations for improving the cooperation between cities and their surrounding municipalities. The main challenges include:

1. Common land use policies and instruments to avoid urban sprawl
2. Definition of new financial instruments to meet the multiple tasks and projects of general interest
3. The participation of relevant key actors by (re-)defining the criteria for integrated regional development.
